

Broadcasting LIVE

The Quick What, Why, & How

Broadcasting 101

Isn't Broadcasting just a video conference?

Sometimes!

What do I need to start a broadcast?

Minimally, an account, a device with a camera/microphone, an app & an idea!

How do I broadcast?

Loaded question - let's go over the basics

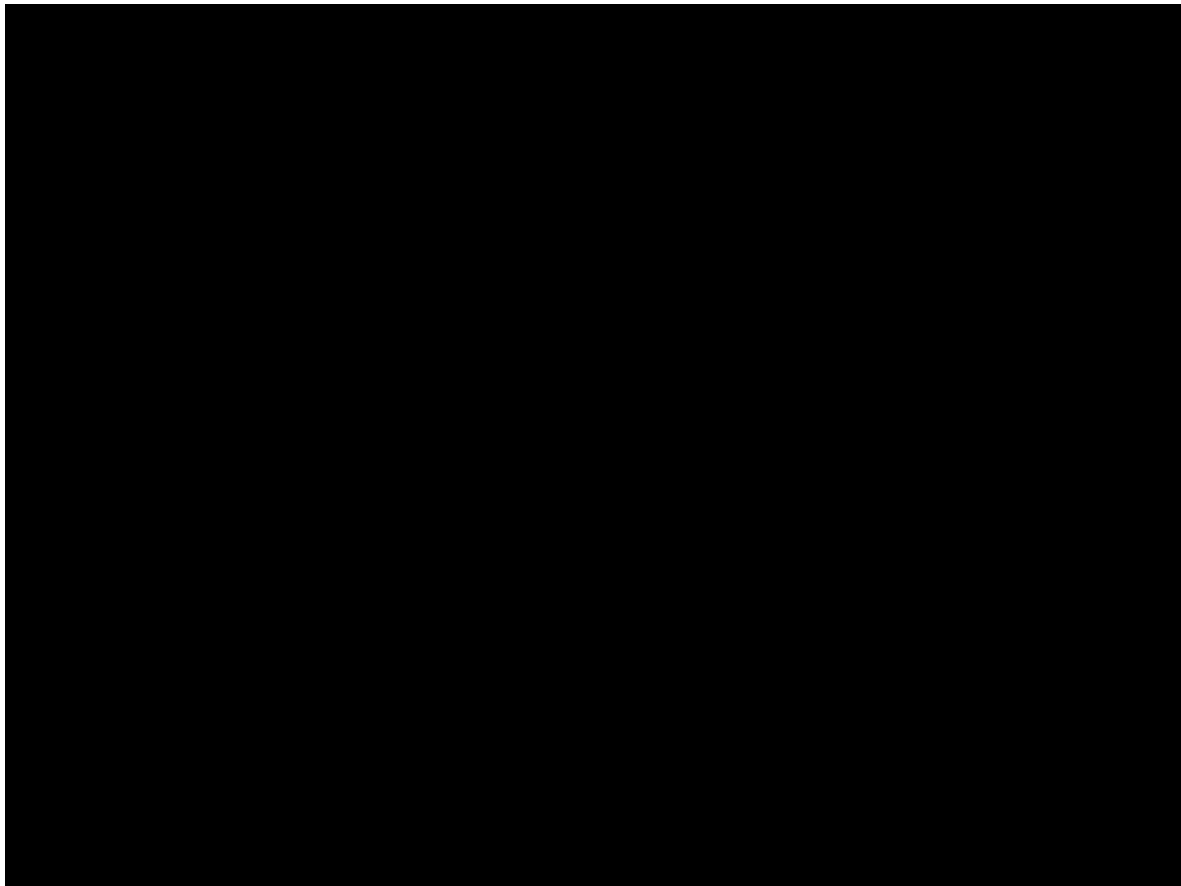

A screenshot of the OBS Studio software interface. The main preview window displays a dark blue background with a radial pattern of lines. In the center is a large, stylized version of the Mercy Career & Technical High School logo. Below the logo, a white banner with a red and yellow border contains the text "THANK YOU FOR JOINING US!". The interface includes a menu bar at the top, a Sources panel on the left, a Scenes panel, a Scene Transitions panel, a Media request panel, an Audio Mixer, and a Controls panel on the right. The bottom status bar shows system information: "LIVE: 00:00:00", "REC: 00:00:00", "CPU: 8.9%, 60.00 fps", and "OBS.Live version 20.3.22.613 powered by StreamElements".
